3. The Central Intelligence Agency within budgetary, personnel and operational limitations will do everything possible to fulfill specific requirements which may be forthcoming as a result of JCS approval of these plans. However, the limitations mentioned in paragraph 2 above must be considered by the military in levying of requirements on this Agency. I have recently forwarded to you a suggestion concerning criteria to guide the establishment of military requirements on CIA. I am confident that after consideration of this statement and the further factors which are involved we can arrive at a mutual understanding concerning the scope and character of the CIA operational role in the field of Unconventional Warfare.
